Ethan returns to Lila after discovering a letter he wrote two years ago but never sent. The letter reveals truths he never admitted, forcing a confrontation about why he left.

LILA: Why are you here?

ETHAN: I found something.

LILA: That doesn't answer my question.

ETHAN: It's a letter.

LILA: From who?

ETHAN: Me.

LILA: To?

ETHAN: You.

(Beat)

LILA: When?

LILA: Why bring it now?

ETHAN: Because I forgot what I said in it.

LILA: That sounds like avoidance.

ETHAN: I swear it isn't.

LILA: Did you read it?

ETHAN: Yeah.

LILA: And?

ETHAN: I told you I was scared.

LILA: Of me?

ETHAN: Of staying.

LILA: That's worse.

ETHAN: I know.

(Beat)

LILA: Why come back?

ETHAN: Because leaving didn't fix anything.

LILA: It usually doesn't.

ETHAN: I didn't know how to tell you that back then.

LILA: You could have tried.

ETHAN: I know.

LILA: So what now?

ETHAN: I don't know if I'm too late.
