JACE: I know.

(Beat)

ARIA: The city locks down tonight.

JACE: I heard.

ARIA: Then you know what that means.

JACE: No more running messages.

ARIA: No more messengers.

(Silence)

JACE: You still want me to go out there?

ARIA: I need you to.

JACE: That's insane.

ARIA: It's necessary.

JACE: I barely made it back alive last time.

ARIA: And yet you made it back.

JACE: That's not a strategy.

ARIA: It's proof you can survive it.

(Beat)

JACE: Why me?

ARIA: Because others hesitate.

JACE: I hesitate too.

ARIA: But you still move.

(Silence)

JACE: If I get caught—

ARIA: You won't.

JACE: That's not an answer.

ARIA: It's the only one I have.

(Jace laughs nervously)

JACE: You're terrible at comfort.

ARIA: Comfort doesn't win wars.

JACE: Yeah... I noticed.

(Beat)

ARIA: This is the last run.

JACE: That's what you said last time.

ARIA: This time I mean it.

(Jace nods slowly)

JACE: Then I guess I'm in.

ARIA: You were always in.
