SERA: You don't understand what you're touching.

ARIN: It's a sword.

SERA: It's a choice.

ARIN: I need it.

SERA: No. You want it.

ARIN: Same thing.

SERA: That's how people destroy kingdoms.

(Beat)

ARIN: I was chosen.

SERA: You chose yourself.

ARIN: That sword belongs to the world.

SERA: It belongs to restraint.

ARIN: I'm not afraid.

SERA: You should be.

ARIN: Why protect it?

SERA: Because the last person who drew it... begged me to take it back.

(Beat)

ARIN: What did it do?

SERA: It gave him everything he wanted.

ARIN: That sounds like a blessing.

SERA: Until it didn't.
